Preparing to Assess the Impact of NRCan's COVID-19 Measures

By: Anne Routhier, Director General, Planning, Delivery and Result Branch

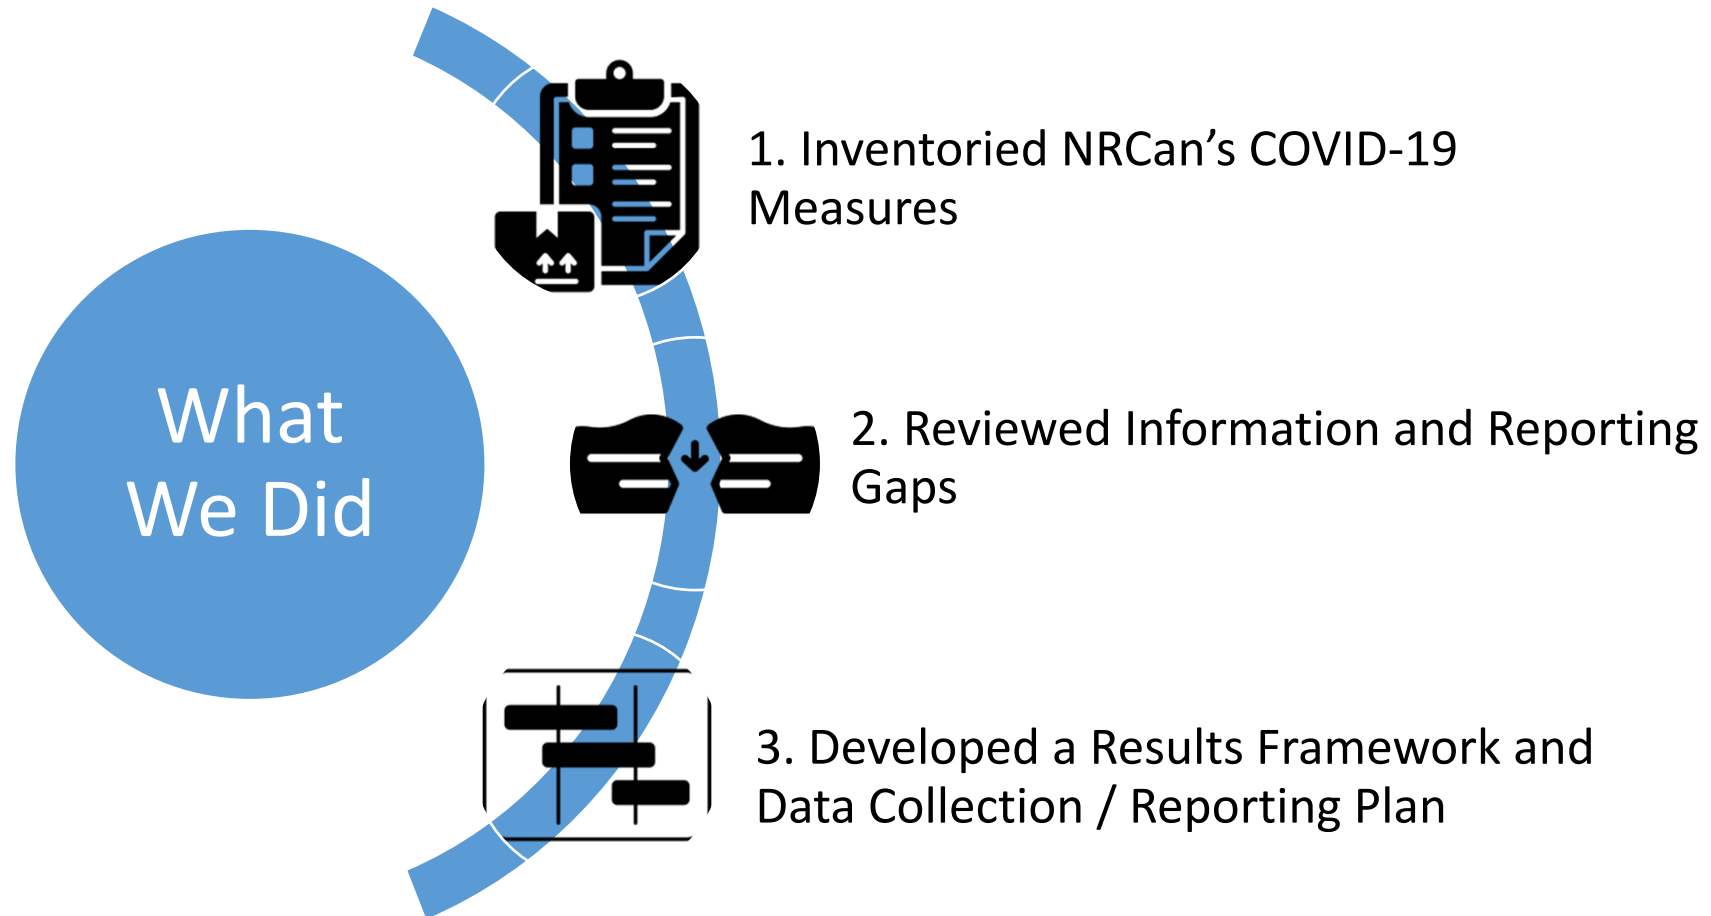

Performance and Planning Exchange (PPX) – April 15, 2021
COVID-19 Impacts on Government Departments:
How Results Based Management is Helping

Canada

Purpose of Discussion

- To share NRCan's integrated approach to monitoring & reporting impacts of NRCan's COVID-19 measures.

1. Inventory of NRCan COVID Measures

- NRCan's inventory includes both internal- and external-facing activities and outputs, as well as horizontal support to the federal emergency response.

2. ASSESSMENT of COVID RELATED REPORTING

3. PERFORMANCE MEASUREMENT FRAMEWORK

- Impacts of COVID-19 are varied but most commonly relate to modifications to NRCan operations and existing programs, creation of new initiatives/programs.
- To measure results, work is required to:
  - link existing operational data with program outcomes
  - fill data gaps
  - better integrate systems for data collection and analysis
  - ensure regular and streamlined reporting, including data visualization

NRCan COVID Results Framework

Ultimate Outcome	Canada recovers from COVID-19 with natural resource sectors that are competitive, resilient, green and inclusive
Intermediate Outcome	Negative impacts of COVID-19 on natural resources sectors and vulnerable populations in resource-based communities are mitigated		NRCan contributes to an inclusive green economic recovery and leverages opportunities to build a bridge for future growth of Canada's natural resource sectors
Immediate Outcomes	NRCan management of COVID-19 is effective	Impacts of COVID-19 on NRCan business are mitigated (incl. Programs & Business Continuity)	Increased capacity of OGDs, PTs and natural resource sectors to respond effectively to COVID-19
Outputs (stabilization, re-entry, recovery and beyond periods)	NRCan New and Existing Programs	Engagement and Policy Development	Horizontal Federal Coordination	NRCan Operations
